- September 5, 2017: Trump administration announces DACA rescission
- September 6, 2017: 15 States +DC sue to challenge Trump’s decision to end DACA
Memorandum on Rescission of DACA

❖ Your deferred action and work authorization are valid until the date on your work permit.

❖ Any initial applications received by 9/5/17 will continue to be processed.

❖ No further new initial applications will be accepted.
DACA Renewals

Renewals
- Renewal applications pending or received by 9/5/17 will still be adjudicated.
- Only those with work permits expiring between 9/5/17 and 3/5/18 can file a renewal application.
  - MUST file that renewal by OCTOBER 5!
  - $495 fee

If you wish to renew, it is a good idea to first speak to a reputable lawyer who specializes in immigration law.

Travel and Information Sharing

Travel
- New advanced parole documents will not be issued.
- Pending requests will be closed and the fees will be returned.
- Previously issued advanced parole documents will “generally” be honored. (As always, advanced parole has some degree of uncertainty to it.)
- For DACA recipients who are outside of the U.S. on advance parole, they should return to the U.S. before their deadline.

Information Sharing
- We do not know how DHS will be handling the information provided in DACA applications.

❖ Driver’s Licenses

❖ Professional and Commercial Licenses
What’s Next for DACA Recipients?

▪ There may be other legal options for you:
  ◦ Cancellation of removal,
  ◦ U-visas,
  ◦ Asylum,
  ◦ Family-based and employment options

▪ If you traveled out of the country while you had DACA, and came back with advanced parole, it is even more likely that you may have options to obtain status.

▪ DHS may also let your deferred action expire without putting you in removal proceedings. It is not automatic—they will have to make a decision to put you in proceedings.

▪ It is critical for you to consult an immigration attorney to evaluate your risk and explore all your options.
